Patient Advocate Foundation's Health Equity Initiatives are designed to get assistance to those people and places who need it the most. We know that not everyone, everywhere, has access to the same things in the same way. Where a patient lives plays a major role in determining where and how they receive care and support.

Our comprehensive strategy to respond to these needs includes the Health Equity Case Management Program, which delivers direct case management for social and financial navigation that identifies and responds to obstacles to affordable quality care in specific zip codes with a documented need for our interventions.

We help patients understand health insurance coverage options, address problems with their coverage, and connect to resources that may help with financial challenges paying for care, household expenses, and income replacement benefits such as disability.
